Positional concepts - left, right, top, bottom

Number

Color and size

Rules

1. Each player places a game board and set of cards in front of them.
2. Construct a barrier between players.
3. Players decide who will give instructions and who will follow. Player 1 asks player 2 to place one of their game cards on their game board in a specific position. Player 2 should also place the card in the exact position given in the instruction on their board.
4. After giving the instructions and using all the game cards, remove the barrier and compare the two boards. Player 2 should have all the cards in the correct place.
5. Continue the game by reversing roles.

Adaptation

Play the game with a small group of children. Each child has their own game board and set of cards. The adult has a copy of the game board and cards which is hidden from the players. Give the children instructions that help develop their understanding of a variety of concepts.

Sample instructions - for non-readers children can use the symbol on the invitation

- Put Ben's party invitation on the first house in the top row of houses. (number and positional concepts)
- Put Meg's party invitation on the house with the in the top row of houses with four windows. (number and positional concepts)
- Put the invitation with the green butterfly on the short house in the middle row (color, size and positional concepts)
